NABA: Italian Art Design: www.naba.it

La Nuova Accademia di Belle Arti is a Fine Arts Higher Education Institution, which emphasizes a multidisciplinary approach. It is the only school legally recognized by the Italian Ministry of Education to give the "Diploma di Accademia di Belle Arti" the highest official title in Italian Art Education, the equivalent of a University degree in Industrial Design, Communication Design, Fashion, Textile and Jewelry Design as well as Painting and Sculpture.

The teachers at the Nuova Accademia di Belle Arti are freelance professionals, artists and designers who are all actively working in Milan, and are recognized as having both national and international prestige. The NABA focuses on the student as a "singular and unique" individual to be educated and professionally trained according to his or her own needs and to reach this objective there is a fixed limit on student numbers. Only in this way can they guarantee adequate work space and facilities so that everyone can benefit from free access to all the educational resources, a balanced and calm environment, direct and personalized contact with the teachers.

Milan, Italy

The city of Milan is synonymous with cutting edge fashion, interior and product design. It is the heart of modern Italy as well as its financial and artistic capital. Surrounded by a centuries old environment it also provides an outstanding opportunity for students to explore the possibilities of tomorrow within the context of an evolving European/world culture. Milan's central location provides easy access to major Italian cities such as Rome, Florence and Venice. For fashion design students Milan offers an unparalleled opportunity to visit major houses of fashion and be inspired by the latest styles.
