University of East Anglia: <http://www.uea.ac.uk>

The University of East Anglia in Norwich, England has a reputation as one of the top places to study the Humanities in England. Combined with its excellence in the fields of Creative Writing, Film Studies, and the Performing Arts, this has made it a popular location for US students looking to study at a British University. Students have the opportunity to take courses fully integrated with British students in a wide variety of related fields.

Norwich, England

UEA is located just outside the historic, medieval city of Norwich—voted the best place to live in England for quality of life and prosperity. Norwich is one of England's major provincial cities situated just 120 miles to the north-east of London and 60 miles from the beautiful university city of Cambridge. Norwich is a fine city with an interesting blend of old and new traditions and architecture. There are quaint medieval streets and churches, elegant eighteenth century houses and functional nineteenth and twentieth century buildings.

Film Studies & BECA

UEA remains one of the best equipped universities for the study of film, with archival screenings of rare films complementing many of the teaching units. At UEA, Film Studies includes television and other electronic media, and thus the program would be appropriate for BECA majors also.

Some courses include:

- Cinema and Technology
- Cinema and TV in Contemporary Britain
- Classical Cinema 1930-1960
- Documentary Video Production
- Introduction to Television Studies
- Media & Cultural Theory
- Television Studio Production

English Literature

This program offers students a way to explore English Culture and Society through both literary and historical approaches. Courses are available in a diversity of areas including: Medieval Literature, Metaphysical Poetry, Shakespearean Drama, Romanticism, Modernism, and Post-war Writing as well as in gender studies, psychoanalytic theory, comparative literature, linguistics, media studies, and literary criticism.

American Studies

In an American Studies seminar at UEA you might encounter questions on The Great Gatsby and the American Dream, intersexuality or the politics of race.

Some courses include:

- The American Self
- American History: From Civil War to Cold War
- Introduction to American Studies
- Imagining America
- American History: The Making of a Nation

WORK IN THE UK!

A student visa in the United Kingdom allows international students to work up to 20 hours a week during term time and work full-time during holidays. However, while in the UK with permission as a student, you must be able to show that you can afford to study and live in the UK without needing to work.
